100 Years of Excellence in Podiatry

Join the Connecticut Podiatric Medical Association at the fabulous Mohegan Sun in Uncasville, Connecticut where luxury meets functionality and events and meetings become an experience of a lifetime. Help us celebrate 100 years of podiatric medicine in Connecticut and experience unparalleled podiatric training in practice management, coding and patient care.

You will learn from the highest caliber educators available, where national speakers present state of the art techniques and information to help you achieve your professional practice goals.

You will have an opportunity to network with your peers as you share concerns and interests over fantastic lunches, breaks and receptions. Our program begins on Thursday, March 25 with APMA's Outstanding Coding Program that offers the most accurate and up-to-date coding information available. Attendees are then invited to join CPMA in a light reception to welcome back all previous and current Connecticut Residents. Former Residents are offered the symposium price at the member rate as a special gift from CPMA to our Residents.

All attendees are invited to join CPMA at our 100-Year Gala Reception and Dinner on Friday evening. Our event will be sponsored in part by Bako Podiatric Pathology Services. Other sponsors will be announced as they sign on. The event is complimentary and begins with a reception of hors d'oeuvres and cocktails. We will have special entertainment and music, a photographer on hand to capture moments with your friends and family and other surprises throughout the evening for you and your guest. Attendees are invited to bring a guest as well.

Other symposiums just offer you education. We offer you an experience you won't forget. Join CPMA at the Mohegan Sun on March 25-27, 2010.

Doctors' Program & APMA Coding Seminar

Thursday – March 25, 2010

4 Continuing Education Contact Hours

1:15 p.m.-5:15 p.m.	APMA Coding Seminar
5:30 p.m.-6:15 p.m.	Advanced Biohealing Lab Presentation
6:30 p.m.-7:45 p.m.	Connecticut Residents Reunion and Reception

The APMA Coding Seminar is designed to meet the ever-increasing demand for information on coding policies specific to the practice of Podiatric medicine and surgery. It includes multiple speakers and PowerPoint presentations followed by a question and answer session. The presentation content is peer-reviewed by the APMA Coding Committee members who also spearheaded the APMA Coding Manual. The Coding Committee members are well versed in the different challenges faced by members when coding for different procedures in different settings. The Coding Committee receives first-hand information on coding policies through APMA's active participation with the AMA CPT Editorial Panel, RVS Update Committee (RUC), National Correct Coding Initiative (NCCI), and the Practicing Physicians Advisory Council (PPAC). The Coding Seminar also includes coding information from private insurers; information made available through the relationships APMA has fostered with private insurers.

The Coding Seminar includes complex coding issues, such as "DME Coding and Documentation," "Coding for Wound Care: Update and Changes," "From CPT to RUC & Beyond" and "Specific CPT Problems, Modifiers & V Codes." In the upcoming year, the Coding Committee intends to again tackle difficult coding questions and issues.
